Research & Development Solutions

Developing new products and services, enhancing existing products and improving efficiency and productivity, can be costly. Whilst these costs are fully allowable when calculating your tax charge, you could be missing out on the additional 130% enhanced tax relief that can be claimed from HM Revenue & Customs. This enhanced tax relief would give a total relief against profits of 230%.

The enhanced tax relief is applicable to Research and Development costs that you are incurring/have previously incurred.

Smith Craven can take care of everything associated with a claim for the additional tax relief. We will provide you with a reliable and professional service and liaise directly with HMRC on your behalf.

Our service is comprehensive and will ensure that you are not missing out on valuable tax relief that could be available to you.

To find out more, or to instruct us in this respect, call us today.

Review:

We will carry out an initial consultation, to discuss the potential claim for expenditure on any project. We will also consider any potential for previous claims and determine the level of claim you are eligible to make. It may be appropriate to take previous tax years into consideration.

Advice:

The team at Smith Craven will provide comprehensive advice and assistance throughout, whilst identifying relevant costs that are eligible for a claim. We will also summarise the details required by HMRC.

Preparation of the Claim:

From the information provided, we will assist and prepare a detailed report to be submitted to HMRC, along with the claim for relief.

Dealing with HM Revenue & Customs

We will deal directly with the R & D Team at HMRC, to remove the hassle from the business themselves.

Should the company have trading losses, a claim for repayment of tax can be considered so that the company obtains immediate benefit from the claim.

Why are Companies Not Claiming?

"I don't understand the Tax Legislation & Claims Process"

"I don't know if our Projects qualify as R&D"

These are the two main reasons: Let us investigate your claim for you.
